

Dogs can't always regulate their temperature.

Dogs get hot. And dogs get cold. But with our temperature-regulating line of designer coats, they'll be as comfortable as they are stylish. Because while some dog coats are enhanced with performance capabilities, and others are designed to fit well, Zentek combines these essential elements into one innovative canine coat.

The secret behind this technology is Comfortemp[®] fabric, which regulates your dog's body temperature in even extreme weather conditions. You see, we view your dog as an athlete. And performance dogs need a performance solution to keep them comfortable, while allowing them the freedom to run, walk and simply be dogs.

The Zentek philosophy.

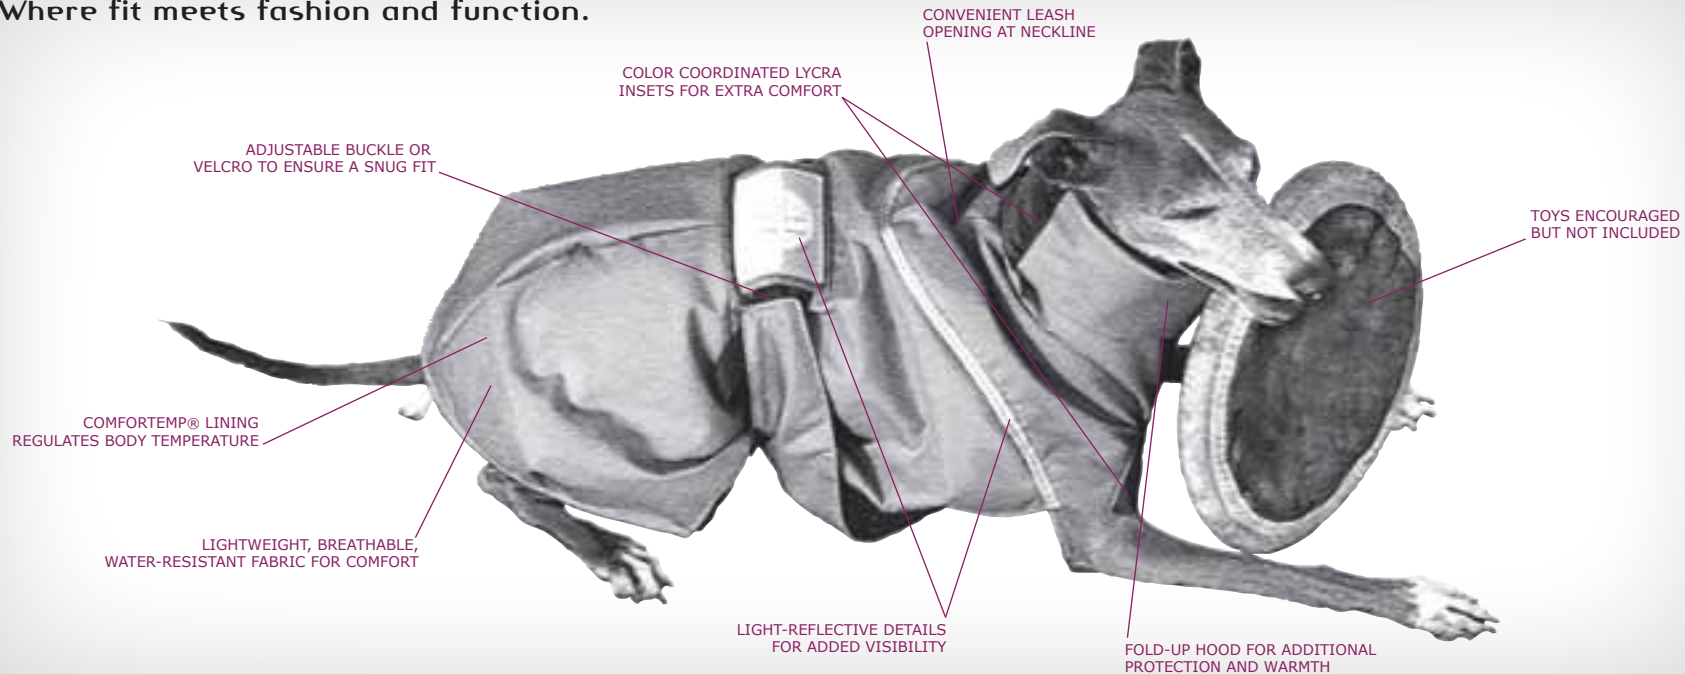

Trained that fit is just as valuable as function, founder, Janice Kajanoff realized there was a lack of good design and great fit in the growing market of canine coat. Janice knew there had to be a better way. And after researching performance fabrics to regulate body temperature, she used her knowledge of proper fit to design a line of breathable, water-resistant and temperature-controlling coats for dogs.

Inspired by blissful comfort and performance technology fabrics, Zentek is a symbol of the blending of these vital components. Because we believe that good coats should fit, flatter, be non-restrictive and provide protection and comfort. That's the Zentek philosophy.
